

Mountains in Kaohsiung(高雄) City

Kaohsiung(高雄) is the biggest city in southern Taiwan. It is a world-known harbor city and famous for its diverse agricultural products, ecological environment, and culture, especially in the mountains, which include high and hilly areas, like Namaxia(那瑪夏), Maolin(茂林), and Yanchao(燕巢). Each place has its own beauty and charm.

About agricultural products in the high mountain area, Namaxia(那瑪夏) is renowned for juicy and sweet peaches. Maolin(茂林) is famous for aiyu jelly and black rice. Liouguei(六龜) is productive of bamboo shoots and gold mangoes. What's more, you also can try local special cuisine, like boar pork. Mmm...yummy, yummy!

In the hilly areas, Yanchao(燕巢) and Alian(阿蓮) are well-known for guavas and honey. In Dashe(大社), there are apple-like texture fruit, milk jujubes. In Dashu(大樹), there are litchi and pineapples in summer. In Meinong(美濃), there are white-jade-like radishes and jewel-like cherry tomatoes during winter time. You can book a time to pick radishes and tomatoes by yourselves. Isn't it interesting?

When it comes to ecological environment in Kaohsiung(高雄), what occurs in your mind? There are abundant ecological scenic spots, for example, firefly observation in Namaxia(那瑪夏), purple crow butterflies and hot springs in Maolin(茂林), and Moon World Park in Tianliao(田寮) district.

Abundant culture is one of the spotlights in the Kaohsiung mountain area as well. Among the Indigenous peoples in Kaohsiung(高雄), the Bunun and Rukai tribes are very special. Bunun tribe is well-known for its Eight-part polyphony. Rukai tribe is well-known for lilies, sculptures, and hundred-pace snake totems on ceramic pots, clothes, buildings and other artworks.

The mountains in Kaohsiung(高雄) City offer unique agricultural products, ecology and culture, like a colorful mix. Seeing is better than hearing. Come and visit Kaohsiung(高雄). Kaohsiung(高雄) will touch your heart and you will enjoy it a lot.

※Dashe-大社； Dashu-大樹