

Tour in Kaohsiung(高雄)City

Kaohsiung(高雄) is the largest and most beautiful city in southern Taiwan, made up of 38 districts. It's well known for its distinctive festivals, stunning tourist spots, and delicious local food. Getting around is easy thanks to its convenient public transportation system — you can explore the city by U-bike, bus, MRT, or LRT. So why not start your visit today?

First, have you ever visited the Lanzhuo Fair in Gangshan(岡山)? Originally established in 1880 as a trading hub known for its bamboo products, it has since evolved into a large market offering a wide variety of goods. Another famous event is the Wannian Folklore Festival, held by the beautiful Lotus Pond in Zuoying(左營). Here you can experience the lively and festive atmosphere of a traditional Taiwanese temple fair.

Second, if you love animals, you should visit Monkey Mountain in Gushan(鼓山). You'll definitely see wild monkeys there — just remember one rule: don't show any food in your hands. In addition, if you want to explore an old industrial warehouse that has been turned into an art space, don't miss the Pier-2 Art Center in Yancheng(鹽埕). It features many fascinating and creative art exhibits, and you can easily get there by LRT.

Finally, you can enjoy authentic noodles and steamed dumplings in Nanzi(楠梓) District. If you'd like to try traditional cakes, be sure to visit the well-known cake shops in Daliao(大寮). They offer a wide variety of Chinese and Western-style cakes that are sure to satisfy your taste buds. If you're still craving more, Liouhe(六合) Night Market is another great option. Located on Liuhe(六合) 2nd Road, it's packed with all kinds of delicious street food. And for those with a sweet tooth, don't miss the famous peanut candy in Fengshan(鳳山)! No matter what you're craving, Kaohsiung always has something delicious to offer. Mmm...yummy, yummy!

Kaohsiung(高雄) City offers traditional festivals, leisure attractions, and delicious food that will enrich your life. Come and experience Kaohsiung(高雄) for yourself — you'll definitely leave with wonderful memories!